Report of Committee on Streets & Harbor was presented and read as follows

The Com. on Streets & Harbor who were instructed by resolution of the Board to ascertain whether the initial or Starting point from which the towns was surveyed can be Identified, have in obedience to such instructions examened the records and compared it with the monuments upon the ground, as well as they could do without incurring the expense of procuring instruments and employing a Surveyor. From such imperfect examination they are of the opinion that their is a mistake of Fifty feet or the width of a Street, in describing the initial point, in the record, and that the true point is fifty feet North of that indicated in the record. Correcting that Mistake they beleive that a careful Surveyor with accurate instruments may find and mark the initial point. And if the Board shall take measures to cause a survey and plant monuments your Committee recommend that another Starting point be marked, by monuments at Some more convenient point, where it will never be covered by water
